THE DEATH ROLL

GRADUALLY INCREASING AT JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA.

THE RECORD IS SEVEN DEATHS AND FIFTY-TWO NEW CASES.

They Have a Sufficient Number of Doctors, but Their Efficiency is None the Best—The Same May Be Said of Many of the Nurses—The Situation at Hendersonville—Nashville in No Danger.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 19.—The official bulletin for the twenty-four hours ending at 6 p. m., September 17, is as follows: New cases, 52; deaths, 7; cases to date, 1,047; deaths to date, 133.

As usual the reports of deaths began to come in early, and the prospect is that the fatal roll will be a large one.

As far as doctors are concerned we have sufficient in quantity, but, alas, many of them lack the quality. The same deficiency was noted among the first lot of so-called Red Cross nurses. One so-called doctor was forcibly ejected from the Togh hotel Saturday for drunkenness and quarrelsomeness. Two of the nurses have been sent off and one was in jail Monday for stealing at the Sand Hills. She stole sheets, undergarments, towels, etc., and had them hid under her mattress.

The board of health is sifting the cases of all suspected nurses thoroughly, and the incompetent and shiftless, of which there are many, will be sent off. Too many deaths have already occurred through poor and neglectful nurses, and our physicians are bound that the people shall be protected in this respect if they have the power.

A St. Augustine special says: About 11 o'clock Monday night two negroes named Edward Wood and Charles Johnson, doing picket duty in the quarantine lines, became involved in a quarrel about a woman, and Wood shot Johnson through the fleshy part of the neck with a rifle. Wood was immediately arrested by the quarantine officers, brought to town and turned over to the sheriff. He was examined before Justice Vandora, who committed him to jail to await the results of Johnson's wound. Johnson will probably live.

At 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon William Delespin and Charles Collins, both colored quarantine guards, who had been in town during the day and drinking considerably, quarreled over the ownership of a lantern. After some high words, Delespin took his double barreled shotgun and fired a charge of buckshot in Collins' left breast, killing him instantly. Delespin defied arrest until the sheriff arrived, when he submitted and was locked up.

Sheriff Hernandez is very outspoken in his disapproval of the police putting armed negroes on quarantine duty, in which opinion he is upheld by the public. He has telegraphed Adj. Gen. Long for permission to call on the state militia at this place in case of further trouble.

The board of health has turned over the command of the quarantine lines to a citizens' committee, which has placed B. F. Oliveros in command.

The object in putting colored men on the quarantine line was to give employment to as many as possible during the present scarcity of work, but the results are not proving satisfactory, and they will probably be obliged to do duty without arms or be discharged altogether.

St. Augustine is in a healthy condition, and the general opinion is that the city will pass through the fever season in safety and be ready for tourists by the middle of December.

It is rumored here in Jacksonville that there is trouble at Gainesville.

Things are so disorganized at present, owing to the illness of the secretary of the board of health, that it is hard to get correct lists of new cases and deaths up to noon. Although it is known that there are twenty or thirty new cases, only ten are reported to-day.

It is rumored that Gainesville has yellow fever and that the people are flocking from there by hundreds. It is said that they have had six cases, all of them from militia boys who went to Fernandina at the time of the riot.

A telegram received from Hendersonville, N. C., announces the death of C. N. Young, one of the Jacksonville refugees, from yellow fever. Mr. Young died from exposure, having sat in the open air for two hours, and refused to go to the hospital, whither he was at last taken by force. Young was employed as a bartender for Fred Bettelini in this city.

LATER.—Thirteen new cases and two deaths from yellow fever have been reported at noon by the physicians, but the irregularity of the reports, especially since the advent here of so many physicians from other cities, is very apparent, and many cases have been reported by more than one physician, while undoubtedly there are many cases which have not been reported at all.

Several of the physicians who have come to Jacksonville with the noblest intentions are perfectly useless in this emergency, having had no experience with yellow fever. It is the same with the nurses.

News comes from Gainesville that six or eight of the members of the Gainesville guard, which went recently to Fernandina to quell the trouble among the longshoremen, are down with yellow fever, and that the town is stampeding. Fernandina reports a clean bill of health and Tampa is said to be free from the fever.

The Jacksonville Evening Metropolis has at last been obliged to discontinue, every person connected with the paper being on the sick list. Most of them are, however, convalescent.

Situation at Hendersonville.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 19.—The presence of 400 yellow fever refugees at Hendersonville has caused much uneasiness here, as quite a number of Charleston people have summer homes in that vicinity. The city was very prompt, however, in establishing a quarantine, which will be rigidly enforced. A gentleman who returned from Hendersonville with his family yesterday said that some enthusiasts thought it would be a good thing for Hendersonville to imitate Atlanta. The idea was that about a score of millionaires who had settled in Florida would be induced to come to Hendersonville, spend their millions and develop the place. Instead they find upon their hands a train load of stricken people, many of them negroes, and a good many of them already down with the fever.

Jacksonville's Mayor in Cleveland. CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 19.—A. B. Smith, mayor of Jacksonville, Fla., arrived in this city yesterday morning, and opened an office for receiving contributions for the fever-stricken city. He speaks in the highest tones of the treatment he has received while in the north, especially on the part of railroad and express companies. Free transportation has been furnished everywhere, and the express companies have offered to send things free of charge. Mr. Smith left Florida on the 23d of July, and was about to return a few weeks ago, when he was advised not to do so, as he could do more good for the people there by working for them in the north. Mr. Smith intends to remain here a week, and will then go to Indianapolis.

It Wasn't the Fever.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 19.—At Green Springs, two miles from the city, Monday, Ned Ogden, a negro laborer, fell apparently dead. A crowd of people, among them a number of women and children, gathered around the body, when some one in the crowd exclaimed: "Why, he died of yellow fever; look how yellow his eyes are." Instantly there was a wild rush, half a dozen women fainted, and one, Mrs. R. J. Mason, was so overcome by the shock that she is not expected to recover. The coroner was sent for, and he summoned a physician, who examined the apparently dead negro, and after working with him two hours restored him to life. His illness was attributable to heart disease.

Will Refuse Refugees.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The mayor of Asheville, N. C., has notified the Marine hospital bureau that the hotels and boarding houses will refuse to receive Florida refugees.

The mayor and chairman of the permanent relief committee of Philadelphia has telegraphed the bureau, urging that the people be confined in the infected districts by military cordon, to prevent the importation of the fever to northern cities.

Nashville Not in Danger.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 19.—A meeting of the health officers of a number of states will be held here, to discuss the general condition of affairs. Dr. J. D. Plunkett, president of the state board of Tennessee; Dr. Rauch, of Illinois; S. M. Orr and other prominent health officers, declare that there is no need for people to be frightened, as there is no possible danger to northern cities, owing to the lateness of the season.

Response to the Red Cross Call.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19.—In response to the call for volunteers of the Order of the Red Cross, Dr. William Rickett, of Baltimore, left this city on Sunday for Jacksonville, where he will give his services for the relief of the sufferers from yellow fever. He leaves a wife and family in this city and abandons a remunerative practice.

Careful St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19.—Joel Davis and his family and Mrs. Emily McLaughlin came here lately from Pensacola, Fla. Mrs. Davis and Mrs. McLaughlin have both been taken ill with fever. The entire family were sent to the city hospital to await developments, although the city physicians do not think it yellow fever.

Another Doctor Volunteers.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 19.—Dr. E. F. Mullien, who was at one time superintendent of the infected districts of Jamaica, has tendered his services to Jacksonville.

Gored to Death by a Bull.

WICHITA, Kas., Sept. 19.—Robert Somerville, a young New Yorker, Saturday night met with a frightful death. He was visiting at the ranch of Mr. Johnson, a stock man, south of here, and went into a corral where are kept some fine cattle. A ferocious young bull attacked him, and before aid reached him he was gored to death. The cattle, about fifty in number, afterwards became unmanageable, and before the body could be taken from the corral they commenced fighting and strewed the remains of the young man over the field. The persons who attempted to rescue him were seriously if not fatally injured.

Storms at Sea.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Incoming steamers continue to report encounters with the cyclonic storm that passed off to sea early this month after doing such havoc in Cuba and eastern Mexico. The Anchora struck the storm last Tuesday night. She shipped heavy seas constantly. The largest struck her early Wednesday morning when the water washed completely over the bridge. Capt. Brown was on the bridge with the second officer at the time. They escaped injury. The Arizona also had a severe time of it for part of one day, but she was too far from the storm's center to feel its force.

William L. Scott's Successor.

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 19.—The Democratic congressional conference for the Twenty-sixth congressional district, after considerable delay and much discussion, accepted the nomination of Hon. William L. Scott. The Erie conference then presented the name of Hon. James R. Burns, the Irish Nationalist, of the last Pennsylvania legislature, and he was unanimously chosen. Mr. Scott's successor on the ticket is a man of great ability and the oratorical powers. At the present time he is a teacher in the Erie high school.

Youthful Burglars Come to Grief.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—A gang of very youthful criminals has been discovered in the West Side. William Morgan, aged eight, is known to his confederates as "the captain." William Sullivan, aged ten, is the "lieutenant" of the gang, and Henry Stackmeyer, aged thirteen, is general utility man. George Hopkins, aged thirteen, was a new recruit. The boys have confessed a large number of burglaries.

HAVANA CIGARMAKERS.

OVER TWENTY THOUSAND LABORERS NOW OUT ON A STRIKE.

A Dispute About One Man's Wages the Cause of the Trouble—The Cigarmakers' Unions of This Country Asked for Contributions to Help the Strikers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The long lockout in Havana, by which 20,000 people have been kept idle for weeks, has so far reduced the resources of the men that a committee has been sent to the United States to appeal to the cigarmakers here for money with which to buy food.

Monday night a mass meeting was held in Key West to awaken the sympathy of the cigarmakers there, and circulars have been sent to the various unions of cigar makers in the country asking for contributions. A meeting of Cuban cigarmakers will be held in this city to consider the subject.

The lockout was originated in a dispute between one workman and his employer. In each of the Havana factories there is one man who makes the very best and highest priced cigars. Because of his superior skill he occupies an independent and almost lordly position, works when he chooses, and no questions are asked so long as the quality of his work is up to the standard.

For compensation he has received usually from $70 to $80 a thousand cigars. The cigars are, of course, sold at so high prices that the demand for them is limited, but there is nevertheless a call for them that enables these workmen to live in ease and elegance.

About the 1st of August a manufacturer received an order for 2,000 of these cigars, but at a price which would enable him, he said, to pay but $65 a thousand for making. He took the order to his workman, but the workman refused to touch it. At this the manufacturer discharged the workman and hired another who agreed to do the order at the price offered.

The discharged workman took his grievance to the union and all the workmen in that factory were ordered out. Then the manufacturers appealed to the Manufacturers' association, and a committee was sent to effect a compromise. Its efforts failed, and the Manufacturers' association ordered a lockout in all Havana factories. The order took effect on Monday, August 13, and from that day to this the men have been idle.

For a time the manufacturers laid an embargo on the entire island of Cuba, and refused to permit any cigars to be shipped from it, but this was found to be an unnecessary hardship on the country factories, and on August 25 the embargo was raised.

Along about September 1, a split, it is said, very nearly developed among the workmen. The men are divided somewhat in their sympathies by their nativity. The workmen of Spanish birth are said to be much more aggressive than the native Cubans, the original strikers having been a Spaniard. The Cubans were willing to accept the compromise offered by the manufacturers, but the Spaniards outvoted them and continued the fight.

The manufacturers say that the great majority of the workmen are law-abiding citizens, but that a part of the lawlessness and anarchy in Havana is due to a few of the idle cigarmakers. The aggressors are said to be Spaniards, and the authorities, it is said, wink at the misdeeds of wicked Spaniards.

The latest news received from the island on the subject was a dispatch to Editor Elward Burke, of the Tobacco Leaf. It said that there was no more prospect of settling the trouble now than there had been a month ago.

Senor Carvajal, the president of the Manufacturers' association, was in New York, Monday, on his way to Havana from a visit to Spain. He said that he had an extensive acquaintance and many personal friends among the locked out workmen. He felt sure that he could effect a settlement as soon as he arrived there. He will sail by the next steamer.

Does One Good to Read It.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 19.—John Smith, Jr., contractor for the Knoxville & Nashville railroad, was held up Monday by Charles Rice and an unknown man near Lancaster, Smith county, and robbed of $1,000. Smith was shot and his skull slightly fractured. The robbery became known, and Robert Johnson, armed with a shotgun, gave chase. He overtook the robbers. They fired upon him. Johnson returned the fire, wounding both, one of them fatally. He recovered the money and lodged the robbers in jail. The miscreants were former employees of Smith.

Fought Twenty-one Rounds.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Charles McCarthy, of Jersey City, and Eugene Hornbacker, of Harlem, fought under Queensberry rules with skin gloves Monday night at a well known resort near Sands Point for the bantam championship, a stake of $1,000 and a purse contributed by about fifty spectators. After battling twenty-one rounds in one hour and twenty-three minutes McCarthy was declared the victor, Hornbacker having fouled him by throwing him to the floor and striking him while prone. The fight was a lively one.

Flood in the Delaware.

FORT JENNIS, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The heaviest rainfall in years occurred yesterday and last night. Several streets were torn up by the flood, and scores of cellars were filled with water. People living near the Delaware and Hudson canal left their houses this morning by boat. The Delaware river is very high, and is still rising. A. D. Brown's saw mill, a tannery and two small dwellings on Vandemark creek, near Milford, were carried into the Delaware river.

Two Moonshiners Killed.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 19.—News is brought in of a sanguinary conflict between two moonshiners and two United States deputy marshals near the foot of Backbone mountain, in Clark county, thirty miles from this city, in which both moonshiners were shot and killed. Ted Bates and John Gressman were the moonshiners, and they have been prosecuting their illicit business for some time about three miles north of Black Springs.

THE TYPOTHETÆ.

The Second Annual Session Being Held in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The second annual session of the United Typothetæ of America—the employing printers of the United States and Canada—was begun at 11 a. m. in the Masonic temple, at Twenty-third street and Sixth avenue. There were about one hundred in attendance, much less than was anticipated.

Mr. Joseph J. Little, on behalf of the members of the Typothetæ of this city, welcomed the out-of-town members in an interesting address.

This address was responded to by Mr. Devine, of the united order. He referred to the various organizations which had sprung up in the craft during the past few years, and while he eulogized some he declared there were others which were not fit to be considered by honest men. He then went into an explanation of the reasons for holding an annual session, and spoke of the differences between the employees and employers which had arisen during the past few years, and pointed to some unjust exactions on the part of the employees.

He believed in arbitration for the settlement of disputes and counseled moderation coupled with firmness. Referring to the apprenticeship system the speaker hoped that the day was not far distant when that obnoxious term would be dropped. He considered the establishment of schools for instruction in the art of printing, in all the large cities a grand idea, and urged the appointment of a committee to consider the international copyright law to report at next session.

The balance of the morning's session was devoted to calling the roll and transacting routine business.

At 2:30 o'clock the delegates went on an excursion to Glen Island.

Two More Wrecks.

AKRON, O., Sept. 19.—Both the Valley and the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus railroads had bad freight wrecks Monday afternoon. On the former road, through freight No. 21 struck a line of cars that had accidentally been left on the main track at Willow and piled the cars two deep on top of the engine, making a terrible wreck. The engineer and fireman narrowly escaped by jumping. Passenger trains Nos. 6 and 8 were abandoned. The Cleveland, Akron & Columbus wreck occurred at Millersburg, south of here. A frog broke after the engine passed, and the tender and fifteen freight cars were hurled into the ditch badly wrecked. A brakeman was hurt.

Ku-Kluxism With a Variation.

PELOUSAS, La., Sept. 19.—At Ville Platte a crowd of armed men Monday morning rode to the house of two negroes, Jean Pierre and Salet Dileare, and after leading them a short distance away ridged them with buckshot, killing them instantly. The tragedy is supposed to have been brought about by incendiary language recently used by these negroes.

Shot His Three Assassins.

MOUNT STERLING, Ky., Sept. 19.—News has reached here that, in a fight in Powell county between three men named Estes, father and two sons, and a man named Bower, one of the Estes was killed and both the others wounded, one of them perhaps fatally. The latter, it is said, were unarmed. Bower had a pistol.

Death of a Philanthropist.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 19.—Rev. Joseph F. Travels, the philanthropist, died at his home in Sewickley Monday night. He had been an ardent worker for the kindergarten system in America, and for the education of convicts in the penitentiaries. He was in the eightieth year of his age.

Desperado Gets His Dose.

NORFOLK, Neb., Sept. 19.—Stephen Leetch, a desperado, well known throughout this part of the country, was fatally shot by Deputy Sheriff Roby Sunday, while resisting arrest. Roby had a warrant charging Leetch with stealing some horses.

Carlisle Renominated.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 19.—Democrats of the Sixth Kentucky district renominated Speaker John G. Carlisle for congress.

Sounds From Alaska.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 19.—The total salmon pack in Alaska is 5,000 cases. The winter is setting in at Silver Bow basin and mining operations have been suspended. The news from Berner bay is gratifying. A free gold deposit, fifteen feet in width, has been developed. Word has been received from Onalaska that it is unlikely any seizure of sealing schooners will be made this year.

Wilbanks Removed.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—R. D. Wilbanks, superintendent of mails of the Chicago post-office, has been removed by the postmaster general, Lyman A. Prater has been appointed to succeed him. It is understood that the removal is the culmination of a quarrel of long standing, which has been going on between Mr. Wilbanks and Postmaster Judd.

An Unusual Confirmation.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19.—Episcopallians here are very indignant over the unusual confirmation of Amelle Rives Chandler by Bishop Randolph, of Virginia. It is customary that the rites are administered in church and in class, but owing to Mrs. Chandler's influence and generosity to the church the bishop was persuaded to go to her home, near Charlottesville, Va., and confirm. This was never heard of before.

Burned at the Stake.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 19.—A handsome young quaw, eighteen years old, has been burned at the stake by the Mojave tribe of Indians. She was accused of witchcraft, and after being put to a certain test, was stripped naked, bound to a stake, and a slow fire built about her body. She lived two hours under the torture while the Indians danced about adding fuel to the flames.

It Becomes a Law.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The president has approved the act for the erection of an appraisers' warehouse in New York; the act for relief for the First National bank, of Portland, Ore., for money advanced to build the revenue cutter Corwin, and the act to remove the political disabilities of William L. Bradford.

Who are "Protected."

There are some people who think that every branch of industry is protected. Those who imagine this are grossly mistaken. Those who are engaged in operating, or who are in anyway connected with, protected industries number only about three and one-half millions, leaving 57 million people who do not enjoy the so-called benefits of protection. The farmers, who form a body of workers more than twice as great as all those engaged in the protected industries, are not protected, although Republican politicians try to show that they are. The day-laborer, the doctor, the lawyer, the blacksmith, the machinist, the carpenter, the teacher, and hundreds of others in occupations we could name are not protected. The merchants, the planing mills, furniture factories and establishments similar in character are not protected, although they enjoy the privilege of distributing protected goods.

Now if protection is such a blessing as Republicans claim it is, why not extend its benefits to the whole country and let the people who are not participating in its beneficent workings have the advantages to be derived from it? Why not create more trusts and have more strikes and more lockouts than we are now enjoying? We would like to know why the Republicans do not advocate giving the people more protection than they have, if it has done so much good to the country already.

Illinois.

We notice in the papers of the Northwest that grave doubts are expressed as to how Illinois will cast her electoral vote. Before the St. Louis convention the many friends of Hon. A. E. Stevenson, First Assistant Postmaster General, insisted that if he was placed on the ticket with Mr. Cleveland, Illinois would certainly go Democratic. He stands at the front of statesmen, in the Northwest, and is now in the field, actively engaged in the campaign. He was accorded a magnificent ovation on the occasion of his first campaign speech at Shelbyville, Ill., Monday. He is a great political power in his own State and we look for splendid results to come from his efforts in behalf of tariff reform and the grand ticket his party has placed before the people.

"Undoubtedly the inequalities in the wages of English and American operatives are more than equalized by the greater efficiency of the latter and their longer hours of labor. If this should prove to be a fact in practice, as it seems to be proven from official statistics, it would be a very important element in the establishment of our ability to compete with England for our share of the cotton-goods trade of the world."

These are Mr. Blaine's words uttered when he was Secretary of State under President Garfield. He is now trying to frighten American workingmen by talking of "the pauper labor" of England. Comment is unnecessary.

HARRISON AND THE IRISH.

An Emphatic Statement From an Irishman of Honor.

The Bloomington (Illinois) Bulletin says: "When the Republican papers and politicians attempt to face Mr. William Condon down in his statement of Harrison's fatal abuse of the Irish, they will find they are not brushing aside a lying allegation by some irresponsible little campaign prevaricator, but are facing the solemn asseveration of an old citizen and influential business man of unblemished reputation, and whose word is as good as his bond. It can not be set aside on the flimsy ground that some other man fails to recall it."

"Mr. Wm. Condon, Sr., was seen by a Bulletin reporter and asked as to the statements of this morning's Pantagraph in reference to his charges against Harrison for having slandered the Irish people. Mr. Condon has talked the matter over with gentlemen who also heard Harrison's vile speech here at Dudley Hall, and has come to the conclusion that it was in the campaign of 1876, and not eight years ago."

"Mr. Condon said: 'Harrison, the Republican Presidential candidate, spoke here on an afternoon a few days before the election of 1876, and Colfax spoke in the evening of the same day. I think, although I did not hear Colfax. The abusive words from Ben Harrison came out in this way.'

"Harrison had praised all the nationalities except the Irish, and was just quitting this feature of his address, when an old man with an Irish accent asked: 'How about the Irish, and where were Meagher, Sheridan, Shields, Mulligan and the others?' The crowd hushed the question and shouted, 'Put him out.' While they were taking the old gentleman from from the building Harrison said excitedly, or almost exactly the following words:

"It is easy to know that man's race; you all know what they are; if it were not for them we would not need half of our penitentiaries, which are almost full of them; they have no intelligence; they are only good to shovel dirt and grade railroads, for they receive more than they are worth, as they are worth no acquisition to the American people."

"I have frequently mentioned the language to many people, and long before Harrison was prominently mentioned for the Presidency, and therefore it can not be said I speak of the matter now for mere political effect. I was surprised to find my letter in print, indeed. In my letter I made merely an incidental reference to the matter, not thinking that it or any other portion would be copied by the press. I stand by every material statement I have made. Many of my neighbors who did not hear Harrison, remember that at the time a great deal was said about his abusive remarks, which were more bitter than anything I have ever heard from any one. I dislike to bring any foreign nationality into our American politics, in a free country where we all are or should be Americans, for American interests only; but Harrison has provoked this matter by his own false and bitter words on the stump. I have no prejudice against other nationalities; on the contrary, it is a pleasure to remember that all races have contributed to the growth and splendor of our country, and that in the terrible conflict for the maintenance of the union the Celt and the brave heroes from the German fatherland fought side by side with the American born.

"The false alarm of those who say the Democratic party favors a tariff system favorable to England and detrimental to America, should blind no man Irish-American to the fact that a rancorous defamer of his race is running against Cleveland, that fearless, honest man whose principles are calculated to give cheap food and clothing to the poor, and to preserve the blessings of this Government for Americans yet unborn. Like every individual, every race has virtues, as well as faults, and therefore, I protest against Harrison's sweeping vilification of the Irish people, who usually come here to obey the laws and help develop the mental and physical capacities of our common country."

"The Pantagraph talks about producing an affidavit that Harrison did not make the abusive remarks. Well, there will be a number of counter affidavits from Irish-Americans. It is hard to prove a negative, but we can prove it was a positive fact."

Interrupting a Religious Meeting.

The wild country of Wales is a land flowing with salmon and trout streams; in proof whereof they tell a story of the wild little valley of Llanbadarn, where one Sunday by the brookside the good minister of the lonely parish had taken down his little flock for baptism. Just as he was placing his hand in blessing upon a recent convert's head, he suddenly ducked it away under the benediction and in tones of the wildest excitement cried, "Moni I've got him! I've got him!" The would-be convert was floundering on his knees and hands in a pool; the domineer looked round for his deacons; they had forgotten time and place and had plunged in likewise; the Welsh maidens on the banks, awaiting their turn, tucked up their skirts and took to the water as well. The secret of the whole excitement was a big salmon which had darted under a stone in front of the congregation; catching the fever, the minister himself plunged in and chased the salmon around the pool; after the twenty-three pounder was landed the service was resumed.—Boston Transcript.

The Models of Paris.

The models have a whole street to themselves in one part of Paris—and their name is legion. They are almost all Italians, and form a distinct and ever increasing class. They begin their professional career as little children of 2 or 3 years; and if they have the good luck to possess a good figure or characteristic features or coloring, they will probably continue it until they die. One man who posed for us as an abbe assured me that he had sat for every picture and bust of Napoleon I that had been produced for fifteen years. Another was always employed for religious subjects, and had been the model for Christ in many famous pictures. One dark-browed Italian woman was in all exhibitions as Judith; and another was the conventional Mary for a convent altar piece. With these there are also a few negroes, who are always in great request.—Demorest's Monthly.

Gen. Sheridan's Hard Thinking.

No man ever considered his plans more thoughtfully than Sheridan, and his most dashing exploits were the result of former calm deliberation. Shortly before his death, referring to this subject, he remarked: "I know I have got a reputation for dashing and dash as a soldier. I do not deserve that reputation and I don't want it. I never undertook to do anything without bestowing on it all the thought at my command." But the thinking once done, Sheridan belted in hard fighting.—Once a Week.

Severe Literary Labors.

Cholly—You look tired, old fellow; what have you been doing?
Dolly (briefly)—Literary work.
Cholly (surprised)—Don't say that! What branch, old man?
Dolly—Well, you see, I know a man who writes for papers, and this morning he asked me to help him count the words in an article he was going to send down town. Mighty hard work, I assure you. Almost as hard as writing, don'tcher know?—Judge.

They Diminish Self-Reliance.

The committee appointed to consider the situation of the London unemployed poor report that "works started for the relief of the unemployed, even though they be in some degree useful and beneficial, are in the long run an injury instead of a benefit to the community, by discouraging the real spirit of work and thereby diminishing self-reliance and enterprise."—New York Sun.

Prairie Chickens Moving West.

Prairie chickens, like other natives of the wilds, are opposed to civilization, and are being pushed back toward the frontier with the advance of the immigrant. During the last ten years they have been moving west so fast that they are no longer seen in Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota, and now flock in western Nebraska or Dakota.—Chicago Herald.

Scared Into Matrimony.

The peasant girls of South Russia are flocking into matrimony owing to a rumor of the government's intention to impress into military service as "sappers" all unmarried females between 20 and 30.—New York Journal.

The sweetest of sweet girls who will wait for you is worth her wait in gold.—New Orleans Picayune.

Too Early to Grow.

Mobile Prizes. How—Where—When.

MR. Frank McKeon, a clever gentleman, of McKeon & Menken, who operate a restaurant, said that it was a fact that he and Mr. Beyle held one-twentieth of ticket No. 53,469, the second capital prize of $100,000 in the last drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery. "The prize came in good time, as I needed the money badly, as you know I have had plenty of bad luck. We were burned out last fall.
Another misfortune was losing $306 in a recent bank failure." The Southern Express Company collected it for Messrs.
McKeon and Beyle.—Mobile (Ala.) Register, July 15.

THE BULGARIAN CABINET.

RUMORS OF A CONSPIRACY TO ASSASSINATE ALL ITS MEMBERS.

Quebec Favors Annexation to the United States—Torres Disgusted With the Result of the Parnell Investigation—Glasgow Has a Riot—Foreign Notes.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Rumors were prevalent last night and this morning, based on dispatches received from Sofia and Vienna that the attack made upon M. Natchovitch, Bulgarian minister of finance, while traveling from Bucharest to Giurgevo was part of a conspiracy to assassinate the entire Bulgarian cabinet, but that the man, Kisseloff, essayed to execute the task assigned to him prematurely. Of course the conspiracy is attributed to Russian agents, whose machinations in the Balkan states are unceasing, and if there really existed such a plot the accusation is without doubt correct.

For some time past the Bulgarian government has feared a fresh demonstration of some kind on the part of the Russian party, ample evidence of which apprehension was given by the recent overtures of M. Stambuloff to M. Zankoff, the leader of the Russian party, and the chief conspirator against Prince Alexander at the time of that ruler's abduction. If Zankoff was cognizant of this alleged conspiracy, as most likely he was, if one existed, there is little doubt that it embraced the entire cabinet with the possible exception of Stambuloff, for whom the Russian leader is said to cherish a warm friendship, despite their political differences. This friendship is said to be reciprocated by Stambuloff, and to account in a very large degree for Zankoff's personal safety in trying circumstances.

The Russian influence is just now more than usually active both in Bulgaria and Serbia, however, cannot be doubted, since many startling evidences of its power and wide ramifications have quite recently come to light. King Milan's Austrian cabinet having remained in power as long as it was able to do so has succumbed to the popular clamor for a change of ministry and immediately a pro-Russian candidate is mentioned for premier. A great deal toward bringing about this result has been contributed by Queen Natalie, who is nothing if not a Russian agent, and King Milan will unquestionably experience greater difficulty in severing his marital relations than he had counted upon, when he undertook to dictate the terms of separation.

The Tories Disgusted.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—It has taken but one sitting of the Parnell commission to fill with disgust the Tories who created it, and it is not surprising that they are disgusted, since at the very outset of the inquiry the commission has granted to Mr. Parnell virtually everything that the government refused him while the commission bill was in consideration in parliament. The decision of the judges in chambers relative to the discovery of documents, and the attitude of the court generally, completely unnerved Mr. Graham, the counsel engaged by the Times to assist Sir R. E. Webster, and it is expected that the attorney general will himself attend the sittings hereafter. The Times will have to produce evidence. Dillon will be released from jail to give evidence. The bank book of the league will be inspected. The commission will meet again on October 2.

The Daily News is jubilant over the prospects of the Parnellites, and highly praises the confirming action of the commission upon the points raised by Sir Charles Russell.

Quebec's Threatened Secession.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The News predicts trouble in Canada for England, based upon the feeling in favor of secession and annexation to the United States which prevails in Quebec. It says: "We are evidently on the eve of a period of trouble in Canada. The failure of the fisheries treaty and threats of commercial retaliation, now so near fulfillment on the part of the United States, have excited public feeling throughout the entire Dominion. Quebec is evidently talking at England rather than at the Dominion in these propositions to throw in its lot with the republic on the other side of the border. We must look it full in the face. Its difficulties and its hardships are enough to account for the ebullitions which have lately been witnessed. If any province talks of separation as a threat, it is because some provinces have learned to regard that solution as a relief."

Riot in Glasgow.

GLASGOW, Sept. 19.—The Irish inmates of the emigrants' home in this city broke out in a riot and have wrecked the home. They fought desperately, and the police broke twenty batons in their efforts to quell the disturbance. Sixty-five of the emigrants were arrested, fifty-two of whom have been sentenced to a month's imprisonment. The others were released.

A dispatch from Corea states that the khedive of Egypt has asked Col. Charles Challin-Long, secretary of the American legation at Seoul, to take charge of an expedition to seek Stanley. William Hosea Ballou, of New York, has been mentioned as official correspondent for the expedition. A fund of $200,000 will be raised for the expedition by subscription.

Mr. Chamberlain's Radical Union pamphlet has aroused considerable discussion in political circles. The Tories and the Tory newspapers admit that Chamberlain's scheme is entirely impracticable and far from being lucid, and characterize his arguments as weak, but there is no severity in any of their criticisms.

The Dublin Express, Royalist, however, denounces the proposal as equally mischievous and disappointing. A syndicate is forming for the purpose of experimenting in beet growing in Ireland, with a view to the eventual establishment there of an extensive sugar industry. Expert in the manufacture of beet sugar are very sanguine of the success of the scheme.

DESOLATE.

Now she has passed the limits of the light And gone to where eventual rest begins; Now she is shut forever from my sight, And rid of sorrows equally with sins, It seems my shallop trail Drifts rudderless—the toy of every gale.

Her absence is so strange, and yet so near! Even today, although the long drawn hours Have lengthened into seasons dull and drear, That desolous unrelenting dowers: My life's expectant goal Was lighted from the windows of her soul.

She was most graciously august, and fair Beyond comparison of word's conceit; Up from her small feet to her radiant hair She was in all ways really complete; And now—Ah, could I know Why anxious Fate despoiled and doomed me so! —John Moran in Once a Week.

Advice to Those Who Write.

Newspaper writers unquestionably sow seed from which great harvests are garnered, but they never have the satisfaction of seeing it, or very rarely, at least. There are thousands of young, middle aged and elderly men writing on the newspapers of the world. They are impersonal. No one knows them, no one cares for them outside of their immediate circle. Now and then a man, by force of expression, by virility of idea, becomes recognized among the members of his profession, and obtains, to a certain degree, celebrity, but all that passes away when he goes. We have had great men in metropolitan journalism, whose names you never heard of, whose history you could not give the first letter in the alphabet.

It seems to me wise for literary men, for men of thought, in whatever profession, whether in journalism, medicine, law, theology, the arts and sciences, to have this idea in mind: perpetuate your work in permanent form. Don't be content with newspaper articles alone, don't be content to practice in medicine or law or working successfully along the line of art and science, unless it be in painting or in sculpture, but put in permanent form your thoughts. Publish your sermons, publish noted cases you lost or saved in the sick chamber or in court, gather together your fugitive pieces from the newspapers, or, better still, write some kind of a useful, thought breeding book, and you do stand a chance, then, of being remembered after you have gone, or at least of having something better said of you on the day of your funeral than that you were "a funny old man." —Joe Howard in Boston Globe.
